

Capturing Meaningful Milestones

As all parents know, kids grow up fast! So, it's important to capture the many magic moments, from a first birthday all the way up to graduation. Here, the team from White Room Studio tells us how they create beautiful snapshots of time for families.

What makes your approach to photography different from other studios?

The experience we create for families in our studio space is unique in many ways. Our two-storey shophouse is full of character, with natural light everywhere, a sunlit balcony, a European-inspired hallway, and even a vibrant Peranakan wall, and our photographers ensure that every session feels fresh and fun.

Another standout feature of our team is that they are really good at reading the moment, knowing when to gently guide and when to just let things happen. We're not chasing perfect poses; we're after real connection. That mix of a unique space, an intuitive team, and a relaxed, natural approach is what sets us apart.

You've been a winner in the Expat Living Readers' Choice Awards every year since 2016. How do you keep up the standard?

It means so much to us when Expat Living readers speak for White Room Studio! It inspires the whole team to give families the very best experience at every shoot. For 16 years, we've been capturing families' most meaningful moments, and that trust is something we never take for granted. We take extra effort to make every session easy and fun, even for those nervous in front of the camera. Magic happens when families relax and just be themselves!
